ON FIRST LEG OF JOURNEY TO FRANCE

Twenty-Nine of Our Young Men Entrained Today For Camp Gordon Amid Scenes Testifying to Respect In Which People Hold Them

Twenty-nine more of our boys entrained this afternoon on the 5:10 West Shore train for Camp Gordon, Atlanta, and were escorted to the West Shore Station by one of the biggest parades and demonstrations yet given to those who have left to serve their country and help free the world from Hun oppression. The boys are scheduled to reach camp Thursday morning at 5:30 o'clock.

Weather conditions today were ideal, and the demonstration and parade was marked by the fact that it was the first one to be held from the lower section of the city, the parade forming on East Strand, Hasbrouck avenue and West Strand at 4 o'clock.

All along the line of march the national colors were displayed, and the sidewalks were lined with the relatives and friends of the boys who had turned out to bid them a last farewell until they returned at the close of the world war.

Uptown many of the business houses closed during the hour of the parade so that the employes could take part in the demonstration.

The line of march was from the Mansion House up Broadway to the station. The parade orders as formulated by Grand Marshal D. G. Atkins were carried out to the letter. The marshal had his headquarters at the Mansion House.

As usual the police detail in charge of Acting Chief Hanley and Sergeant Phinney maintained the utmost order at the station, and saw to it that there was no confusion.

Alderman Ralph Mann and his father, Barney Mann, presented the boys with fruit, while Fire Commissioner Charles Lahl looked after the boys' baggage.

The demonstration and parade this afternoon showed conclusively that the starting of the parade from Rondout met with approval of the down town residents and proved no hardship to those who reside above the West Shore. Even if it was a slight hardship for the uptown residents they gladly embraced it to show our boys that they appreciated what they were doing for our country.

The men from Division No. 1 who entrained follow:

Louis Hargraves, 151 Abeel street.
Francis M. Finnerty, 21 East Pierpont street.

Prussian Guard Faces Mangin.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

With the American Army on the Aisne-Vesle Front, Aug. 27.—The famous Prussian Guard is being used by General Von Boehm in desperate counter attacks against the forces of General Mangin at the entrance of the Couchy forest, northeast of Soissons. This fact has become known through the capture of prisoners in the repulse of the German onslaughts. The enemy is making every effort to check the advance of General Mangin's army in the vicinity of the Couchy forest, where the Huns are in danger of being outflanked and forced to make a hasty retreat.

London, Aug. 27.—Lieut. Kermit Roosevelt, the youngest son of the ex-president, has been gazetted for the military cross. When the United States declared war on Germany Kermit sought and obtained a commission with the British forces in Mesopotamia. Later he obtained a transfer and for several months has been engaged in the activities on the western front.

SENATE VOTES ON MAN POWER TODAY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 27.—Whether to include the Reed-Thomas anti-strike amendment was the only important question the senate had to decide when it met at noon today for final consideration of the win the war man power bill.

Under an agreement reached late yesterday afternoon the senate will vote at 4 o'clock on the bill and all pending amendments. After 1 o'clock no senator may speak more than once, nor longer than fifteen minutes on the bill. Speeches on amendments are limited to ten minutes.

Polls of the senate today showed that the vote on the anti-strike provision will be very close Administration opposition to it has not caused the Democratic authors of the amendment to lose hope of its adoption.

If it is adopted it almost certainly will be modified by the adoption of suggestions by Senator Cummins of Iowa.

In its original form any person exempted on industrial grounds who did not in good faith continue at the work for which he was exempted would be immediately inducted into military service. Senator Cummins will propose an amendment that will legalize strikes, in case employers did not abide by awards of the war labor board, after discontented workers had referred any grievance to it for decision.

WATER POWER BILL IN HOUSE TODAY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 27.—The house finally took up the long pending and widely discussed general water power bill. A protracted debate on it lasting at least over today's and tomorrow's sessions is anticipated.

The "recapture clause" is expected to be again a bone of contention. Representative Ferris, Oklahoma, is to lead the fight against the clause. He contends that this clause is so constructed that in the event of the government leasing a water power site owned by it for a term of fifty years, it would be compelled, upon the expiration of the lease, to buy back the property involved at its net cost instead of at fair valuation. This would mean, he argues, that the government would have to pay the equivalent of the net value of such property even though its assets might not be worth as much as they were at the time of the original investment. He also opposed the provision that the burden of proof rests upon the government when it comes to the renewal of a lease instead of being placed on the lessee.

The bill provides for the creation of a federal water power commission, composed of the secretary of war, the secretary of the interior, and the secretary of agriculture, to foster the development of the country's water power as favored by the national administration. The house inter-state commerce committee will resume today its open hearings on the bill to provide financial aid for the country's power plants in order that they meet the increased demands made upon them by the war. The bill is essentially a war measure involving government control of power plants.

COHEN FINALLY STOLE HOME

Here's a Ball Player Who Took Part In a Game With Heinie That Makes the World's Series Look Pinochle.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Aug. 27.—Caught in a German trap and armed only with picks and shovels, "Bunt" Cohen, famous amateur baseball player of the Pacific coast, and nephew of H. A. Gunst, western tobacco king, and a small group of California engineers attached to the British army weathered a terrific attack of German bullets and bayonets and finally licked the Huns with rocks and bare fists.

Arriving today at the base hospital at Ellis Island to be treated for shattered nerves, Cohen related what can obviously be styled "the hottest, wildest adventure of the war.

When the wild scrimmage, which occurred near Cambrai, was over, Cohen found himself standing over a dead German with whom he had fought for nearly fifteen minutes. He was alone and wounded. He made tracks as fast as he could for the Allied lines, where he thought he could locate his company. He was away off his mark and stumbled into another hot fight—this time between the Boches and the United States Marines. He was supplied with ammunition and side arms and again took up battle.

Cohen fought for a day and a half with the Marines and finally he and two Marines got so far ahead that they were cut off by a German barrage and captured. They were taken to the fortress at Metz and severely questioned as to the strength of the Americans.

"We laughed at them," said Cohen. "Then they threw us into prison. The grub was fierce—soup made out of rotten vegetables, coffee made out of heaven knows what.

"As luck would have it our guards were friendly. They said they were tired to death of war. One night one of these fellows deliberately walked away, leaving my cell door unguarded.

"It was a bit hard to get out of the dungeon and chances looked pretty slim. Well, I floored the sentry at the end of the corridor, took his clothes and grabbed his gun.

"The big yard was deserted. I bayoneted another sentry here. I had to do it. In the morning I moved about unquestioned. I was in the Hun uniform. Then I made a train, posing as a brakie. I alighted near the Oise river and crawled almost all the way to the American lines on my belly.

"I was a wreck and haven't seemed to get over it.

"But I'm not through," concluded Cohen. "No, siree. I'll be back at 'em as soon as I can get there."

MAY BE STRIKE OF SHIP WORKERS

Demands Calling For Still Higher Wage Causing Apprehension Among Government Officials—President to Confer.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 27.—The demands of shipyard workers of the country for a wage of $1 an hour, with double time for holidays and over time and a half holiday on Saturday, have precipated a grave situation, it was indicated today when it was learned that the shipbuilding labor adjustment board, to whom the demands were submitted, would confer with President Wilson late this afternoon.

The board has had the demands under consideration for more than a week and it is known that the members fear a general strike if the men are turned down. While members of the board refused today to state the object of their appointment with the president, it is believed that they will ask him to issue a personal appeal to the men to remain at work as a patriotic duty, pointing out the extreme importance of their work at this time and calling to their attention the grave results that would follow a cessation of their work.

South Carolina Voting Today.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 27.—South Carolina is today balloting for United States senator to succeed the late Benjamin Tillman and for governor and state and county officer nominees in the primaries. In the senatorial race, which leads in interest, there are three candidates in the field: Nat B. Dial, a banker; James F. Rice, a lawyer, and former Governor Cole L. Blease. Blease is generally viewed as anti-administration man, and the administrationists have centered on Dial to defeat him.

French Cross Aisette.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, Aug. 27.—French troops have crossed the Aisette in boats near the Oise, opening the way for an attack on the rear of the enemy's Somme line, the International News Service learned today.

SENDS THEM AWAY WITH A SMILE

JAMES S. BARBER.

Spanish-American War veteran, who has marched in every parade in Kingston in honor of the soldiers entering the service in the present war.

It took some diplomacy on Mr. Barber's part to be accepted for service as musician in the old Fourteenth Separate Company in 1898, without breaking the rules as to the age limit, but he got by in some way. He now says he intends to "see the boys off" every time there is a parade and that he hopes to live long enough to march in the parades that welcome them home as he and his comrades were welcomed home nearly 20 years ago.

Mr. Barber is proof reader in The Freeman office and if an unusual number of errors get into the paper on parade days it is because his presence in the parade throws some of his work into less efficient hands.

Incidentally, Mr. Barber does not know about this picture or paragraph and as he doesn't relish publicity, is likely to beat up the entire editorial force with his drum major's baton tomorrow.

18 MISSING AS SUB-CHASER SINKS

Incoming Liner Off Sandy Hook Sends War Craft to Bottom in Mistake for U-Boat.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 27.—The commander, executive officer and fifteen members of the crew of submarine chaser No. 209 are missing following the sinking of the craft by another steamship in mistake for a German submarine, the navy department announced this afternoon. Nine survivors have been landed, eight at New York and one at Lewes, Del.

An Atlantic Port, Aug. 27.—Eighteen members of the crew of the United States Patrol Boat No. 209 are missing and believed to have been killed when the boat was fired upon and sunk by an incoming liner sixty miles southeast of Sandy Hook, the officers of which are reported to have mistaken the patrol boat for a submarine.

News of the tragedy was brought to this port by a United States destroyer which arrived here with eight surviving members of the crew of the patrol boat.

According to the story the patrol boat was cruising near the point where she was sunk, at 3 o'clock this morning. The liner approaching, mistook the patrol for a German U-boat and is said to have opened fire and sunk it.

WAR AT A GLANCE

British troops continue to press forward all along the forty mile battle front from Scarpe river to Albons, even in the face of much stiffer German resistance.

The fall of Bapaume and Roye seems certain soon. New Zealanders have fought their way into the northern outskirts of Bapaume and the city has been made useless for the Germans as far as being a concentration point is concerned. The French war office reported today that French troops early today further advanced in the region of St. Mahrd which is just east of Roye.

Ludendorff is making a desperate stand on both sides of the Somme river. It is plainly evident that he has rushed in reinforcements and is making a mighty effort to stem the British onrush until he can get his supplies and big guns farther back. It is just as evident that he is going to have no easy time doing it.

At no point have the Germans been able to check the British. Pushed back slightly in the neighborhood of Bazentin by a German counter attack the British stiffened and held and then swept on again and firmly established themselves beyond where the Germans launched the counter attack. Further progress has been made east and southeast of Arras, where yesterday the left wing of Sir Julian Byng's Third Army broke through the old Hindenburg line. Canadians, who captured Wancourt, pushed on to the east and captured an important ridge. They also pushed ahead and established themselves well beyond Guemappe which was taken in the initial rush yesterday morning.

On the front between the Oise and Aisne, General Mangin has not let up in that region. After hurling back a German counter attack at Chavigny, which is slightly north of Soissons, the French drove ahead for nearly a mile at Bagneux, further north.

That General Von Boehm is seriously concerned over the position of his army between the Oise and Aisne is shown by the fact that he has thrown the crack Prussian Guard in there in an effort to stop the French.

The Americans latest operation on the Vesle front, was entirely successful, and while only of a local nature, it made their positions around Fismes much more secure.

London, Aug. 27. (12 m.)—New Zealand troops are now fighting in the outskirts of Bapaume, according too Field Marshal Haig's report to the war office today.

British troops also have reached the village of Longueval (Longueval is slightly northwest of Combles and southwest of Bapaume.)

Since the British started their drive last week a total of 21,000 German prisoners have been taken.

Paris, Aug. 27 (Noon)—General Mangin's Tenth French Army has renewed its drive against the German line north of Soissons. Last night French troops advanced their line for a distance of 1,200 meters in the vicinity of Bagneux which lies directly north of Soissons.

Around Roye, where they made progress yesterday, French troops last night pushed farther ahead and brought their total of prisoners in that operation up to 1,200.

German counter attacks west of Chavigny (between Soissons and Bagneux), were beaten off, the French taking prisoners.

The text of the official statement follows:

"South of the Avre French troops this morning made further progress in the region of St. Mard, after having repulsed several counter attacks of the enemy.

"We took over 1,200 prisoners in the course of the fight. Among these were 35 officers including two battalion commanders.

"Between the Oise and the Aisne German counter attacks west of Chavigny failed, leaving thirty prisoners in our hands.

"In the region east of Bagneux we advanced our line 1,200 meters.

"There was sharp artillery activity along the Ailette and the Aisne."

AMERICANS ADVANCE.

Holding Newly Won Ground Near Fismes.

By Telegraph to The Freeman

With the American Army on the Aisne-Vesle Front, Aug. 26 (Night)—American troops have advanced from La Cour, Vilette and Magnoux beyond the Fismes-Rheims high road to the railway line. During the night they consolidated their newly won positions. Despite a harassing artillery fire maintained by the Germans. On Sunday the Americans reached almost similar positions but retired in the face of a heavy bombardment because of their unsheltered positions. As soon as darkness fell they re-advanced and established themselves inside the embankment of the rivers. The Americans are about a hundred yards from the Vesle.

The consolidation of the American positions includes the rectification of their line alignment positions west of Fismes and Fismette.

This leaves the Germans still holding the Bazoches salient, north of the Vesle.

In their advance and consolidation the American found anti-tank rifles, machine gun belts and grenades abandoned by the Germans.

American artillery men shelled the Basilieux crossroads during the night. Photographs taken from observation planes today show that they scored many direct hits, shattering vehicles, killing horses, hitting an ammunition supply train.

Later the artillerymen shelled batteries of Krupp long range guns forcing the enemy to change his battery positions at serious inconvenience and great hardship to the Hun gun crews.

FACTS SUPPRESSED SAYS LODGE

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Washington, Aug. 27—By prohibiting news and magazines containing the report of the senate aircraft investigating committee from going abroad, the administration sought to keep the facts of the aircraft situation from the American people, Senator Lodge, Republican, charged on the floor of the senate this afternoon

"It seems to me that the purpose is perfectly plain," he said. "The tendency of this prohibition would be to make newspapers refrain from printing matter that could not be sent abroad, and which if printed would therefore cause them financial loss"

"The only people in the world who do not know the aircraft situation are the American people. It is well known to our Allies and the enemy Of course, if newspapers omit all mention of it the facts won't reach the American people."

Candles From Human Fat.

Among soap anomalies may be mentioned human-fat toilet soap, known over continental Europe the past century or more and indicated by some medicos as a superior emollient. This sounds callous, but the art of soap making is not particularly noted for fine sentiment. The fat stock was obtained from cadavers of hospital and morgue dwellers and tried out like any other fat. Candles for special purposes have also been made from human fat.—Scientific American.

With Self Forgot.

Greatness is achieved, not by direct and eager chase, while we are looking for something else. It is the little things we get by the endeavor. The great things come to us, as it were around a corner. We never become beautiful, or eloquent, or popular, or happy, or intellectual, or even good, by hard labor. Whatever we get of such things will come to us when we are most self-forgetful, and most absorbed in the service of our kind.—Edward Judson.

OPPOSES MAYOR THOMPSON.

Roosevelt Assails Patriotism of Illinois Senatorial Aspirant.

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Declaring the election of Mayor William Hale Thompson, Chicago Republican aspirant for the United States senate, would be nothing less than a calamity, Colonel Theodore Roosevelt has injected himself into the Illinois primary fight.

The colonel at the same time has evaded the responsibility of sponsoring either George Edmund Foss or Medill McCormick, who are opposing Thompson. He contented himself by saying that Illinois Republicans should support a true blue candidate. As a result Foss and McCormick camps are both claiming Roosevelt's favor.

Colonel Roosevelt's views were given out late last night in the form of a statement, immediately after he returned from making a centennial address at the state fair grounds to a crowd or 40,000.

First, he set at rest reports he might have discussed with Governor Lowden the possibility of a Roosevelt-Lowden national ticket in 1920. He said, "The times are too critical for us to deal with anything except the questions of vital moment to the whole world"

In his reference to Mayor Thompson's candidacy he said in brief:

"In local contests I cannot take sides. But Mayor Thompson's speeches and actions as mayor of the great city of Chicago during the 18 months since we broke off relations with Germany have been such that his election to the senate would be a calamity from the standpoint of Americanism and patriotism, and would be misunderstood both at home and abroad, and would give satisfaction to Germany and to the pro-German element here."

Hottentot Delicacies.

The Kafir may have his corn, the Boer his eternal coffee, the man of Zanzibar his roast nairobi cooked in sugar syrup, but the Hottentot demands a square meal. He begins with tortoise soup, then wild peacock roasted, baked elephant foot, fricasee of porcupine, spareribs of young hippopotamus, ragout of earth dog's leg and an omelette of ostrich eggs, all washed down with brandy and followed by native fruit. Still the historians tell us the Hottentots are a decaying race. In a land where Christmas comes in the midsummer of December, what can one expect? Even then we have not accounted for the rhinoceros, the lizard and the lion, all eaten in different parts of the world. No wonder the man in the moon has ceased to be surprised at what is eaten by the world and his wife and with their limited vision can good.

OUR SAVING AND SPENDING.

Some Americans are economizing and some are not; some are spending less and some are spending more than they did before the war. The Council of National Defense, after canvassing merchants, large and small, and many labor organizations in different parts of the country, and after sifting the information obtained, have reported: That the East and North are restricting purchases, while the South and West are spending more money than ever before. That women have increased their expenditures, while men are economizing That there are unusually heavy sales of automobile and bicycle supplies, pianos and organs, diamonds, watches and other jewelry. That the well to do are not purchasing luxuries, whereas those formerly unable to obtain them are.

That highly paid labor, with pockets full to bulging, should be unable to resist luxuries hitherto unobtainable, regardless of the cost, can readily be understood The same thing has been noted in Europe, not only in England and France but even in Germany, where the sons of toil are devouring eggs at 25 cents each. Other features of the report are less susceptible to explanation Why are the South and West unheeding official admonition and spending more money than ever before? The prosperous and thoughtlessly prodigal labor element is not more largely represented in proportion to population in these sections than in the East and North Finally, why have women "increased their expenditures while men are economizing?" Are women less intelligently appreciative of the situation than men, or is this showing in part a result of the fact that three million men are in the army where they have need to spend but little? Obviously the report questions the intelligent patriotism of the South, of the West and of American women.

ONLY A MATTER OF TIME

Spain's belated stand against the destruction of her commerce by German submarines is significant, clearly indicating Germany's loss of prestige and the growing conviction in the neutral world that her chances of triumph have become very slender. After long submitting to her hard fate, in secret rage but with only feeble open protest, Spain now announces that in case of new sinkings the reduction of her tonnage will compel her to take in exchange German vessels interned in her ports as a temporary solution pending the liquidation of Spanish claims against Germany after the war. Germany can not fail to note or to understand the cause of this new vigor and courage on the part of a hitherto helpless nation meekly submissive to intolerable wrong.

It is quite clear that Spain, formerly convinced that Germany would win, now sees the star of the Allies in the ascendant. Unless Germany can impress millions of Russians and whip into them the needed morale—a herculean if not an impossible task—she will be doomed sooner or later by the man power that will be rushed without limit from the United States. It is now only a question of time. Never have Allied prospects been so bright as now or the future of Germany so dark. Overconfidence and relaxation of effort appear to be the chief dangers now threatening the forces of civilization.

On the one hand the bewildered Germans are told that because of the mad war craze in America the relatively peaceable British and French are prevented from agreeing to Germany's terms. Again they hear that the war is so unpopular in America that the mothers of soldiers are rioting and the soldiers themselves have to be driven on the transports at the point of the bayonet. Such are some of the slightly conflicting stories told by German editors who seem to have literally arrived at their wit's end.

The Germans are now said to be confiding in the hope that Mr. Hoover's ministrations and England's great grain crop will make British soldiers too fat to fight, doubtless forgetting Napoleon's shrewd remark, which will retain its point in all ages, that an army is like a serpent in that it moves on its stomach.

Pessimism must be growing apace in Germany, for the Cologne Gazette disgustedly remarks that "it is a matter of damnable importance whether we are or are not to be regarded throughout the world as blackguards" and truthfully adds that "indeed, we are so regarded now."

One would naturally expect the greater optimism from fresh and unwearied America, yet Premier Clemenceau predicts victory by the end of this year while General March more cautiously places the triumphant issue at some indefinite period of 1919.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

Doctor—"You need to be treated for the whiskey habit." Casey—"Begorra, doctor, that's how I got it."—Boston Transcript.

"Is it true that the government is building a new revenue cutter?" "Yes." "Have you any idea what they are going to name it?" "Prohibition."—Life.

Hubbubs—"What is your idea of the most deceptive thing in life?" Subbubs—"Well, just off-hand, I should say a five minutes' walk from the station."—Judge.

Mrs Flatbush—"Do you make your husband go to church with you?" Mrs. Bensonhurst—"Oh, yes; but he doesn't enjoy going." "Why not?" "Well, he has what is called church insomnia."—Yonkers Statesman.

"Some of my constituents have strange theories of government." "So have some of mine," rejoined Senator Sorghum. "They think a government is strictly an institution for disbursing money with no questions asked."—Washington Star.

No Difference to Jimmy.

Jimmy had not come up to his father's expectations in regard to his studies at school, and an explanation was demanded.

"Why is it," inquired the irate parent, "that you are at the bottom of the class?"

"I can't see that it makes any difference whether I am at the top or the bottom," replied Jimmy pacifically. "You know, they teach the same at both ends."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Careful.

The young private had been posted as sentry on B Squadron stables. But when the sergeant of the guard came round on his visit he was nowhere to be seen The sergeant was about to depart to make inquiries when there came a rustling noise from a heap of straw and the sentry stood before him minus his boots and looking very sleepy

"Halloa!" cried the sergeant "Where were you when I came around just now;"

"Marching round," was the sentry's reply, given in tones of conscious virtue.

"Marching round, were you. Why, you've got your boots off!"

"Yes, sergeant, I took 'em off so that I wouldn't wake the bloomin' 'orses!"—Exchange.

His Thanks.

A stranger dropped into a green grocer's the other day and inquired of the shopkeeper if he had any nuts.

"What kind do you want?" asked the man.

"I don't know. Just name them over to me, will you?"

"Well, we have Brazil nuts, walnuts, almonds, cobnuts," and he rattled off a number of other varieties, but the stranger shook his head

"Filberts?" suggested the man.

"No, not filberts."

"Chestnuts?"

The stranger smiled "That's it, thank you."

"How many do you want?"

"I don't want any. I've been trying to think of the name of that street for an hour and thought that would be a good scheme to help me out. I want to get to Chestnut street. How do I get there?"—Exchange.

KRIPPLEBUSH.

Kripplebush, Aug. 26.—Your correspondent was in error by stating that Hon. Palmer Canfield of Kingston was on the list of speakers for Labor Day picnic, but instead the comittee has secured for this occasion Senator Charles W. Walton. Both Senator Walton and Mr. Fowler are very eloquent speakers and both have a large circle of friends in this community who will be very glad to meet them and hear what they have to say. The picnic held this year will be considered a patriotic rally and the members have secured the most representative and influential speakers obtainable, so it is a sure thing that all three speakers will be at their best for this occasion and give the people some very interesting points on how we can help win this war for the old U. S. A. All come and help us be patriotic on the lawn of the Council Hall here on both afternoon and evening of Labor Day, Monday, September 2.

Furniture to Make Homes Modern

If you have had furniture quite out of mind for many years, a visit to our store will be little short of a revelation. Much of the beautiful furniture made now on Period lines is intensely modern in expression. The old formality has given place to a grace—a comfort and luxury of line and upholstery—absolutely undreamed of years ago. The art of the 17th and 18th centuries has been adapted to the needs of modern homes.

MORE GOOD THINGS.

Spinach is one of the spring greens which should be used freely. It is rich in iron and other material salt.

Spinach and Eggs.—Have ready a generous cupful of cooked spinach chopped fine. Melt two teaspoonfuls of butter, add a tablespoonful of flour a fourth of a teaspoonful each of salt and pepper; cook a moment, then add half a cupful of rich milk and stir until boiling. Add the spinach, mix and use to line a glass baking dish. Break into the dish three fresh eggs and set them into a moderate oven to cook until set. Serve as a luncheon or supper dish.

Mock Orange Marmalade.—Scrape and grate enough raw carrots to weigh two pounds, then squeeze over the carrot the juice of three lemons, set to cook in a double boiler and cook an hour, or until the carrots are tender, then add the grated rind and juice of three oranges and four cupfuls of sugar; cook until thick.

Vegetable Pie.—Have ready cooked dried Lima beans, cubes of carrot or turnip, peas and canned corn. Mix all together, season with butter, salt and pepper, add a little milk and dispose in individual baking dishes. Cover with rounds of pastry, making an opening for the steam to escape. Bake long enough to cook the pastry thoroughly. Serve as the main dish for luncheon or supper.

Spanish Mackerel.—Split a Spanish mackerel down the back, remove the bone and the small bones attached to it. Season inside with one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt and a few dashes of paprika, squeeze over the fish the juice of half a lemon and sprinkle with a tablespoonful of finely chopped chives; put the fish back in its natural shape and place it in a baking dish, suitable for the table. Lay slices of salt pork over it and bake in a hot oven half an hour. Remove the pork and pour over the fish a cup of highly seasoned tomato sauce. Serve another cup with the fish.

THIS OPTOMETRIST HARD OF HEARING

Judge Schirick With Aid of Sergeant Phinney Informed Romaine Osborn of Jewett What He Was Arrested For—Picked Up For Self Protection.

While walking through Railroad avenue about 10 o'clock Monday evening Sergeant Hanley ran across Romaine Osborn, 66 years old, a travelling optometrist, who resides at Jewett, N Y. Mr. Osborn had come to Kingston to do some shopping, had accumulated a big load of stagger juice and was unable to walk steadily

Sergeant Hanley decided that the best and safest place for Mr Osborn was in the county jail in order to safe-guard the remainder of Mr Osborn's roll In fact the optometrist had $24 left, and if he had not been picked up by the sergeant would likely have found the entire amount missing

Mr Osborn is extremely hard of hearing and in order to make him understand the charge when arraigned in police court, it was necessary to address him in a loud tone of voice The court tried it first and then Sergeant Phinney, who has probably the finest pair of lungs on the police force took up the thread of the conversation

Finaly it was decided best to allow Mr Osborn to read the warrant himself in order that he might be able to plead intelligently to the charge

After Mr Osborn had read the charge he shook his head mournfully, but was visibly cheered when the court informed him he would give him a chance to leave Kingston on the next train

BROUGHT EVIDENCE ALONG WITH HIM

Joseph T. Thompson Used a Wheel Barrow to Convey a Door and Other Articles to Court to Show Damage Done by Boys.

Joseph T. Thompson, a sheet metal worker, who resides on the lowlands in the rear of the Albany Avenue Paptist Church, where he also has a war garden, used a wheel barrow this morning to convey to court an outside door, a shot riddled pail, and some broken crockery, which he claimed had been damaged and broken by boys at various times when they had visited his place

There were no arrests made as Mr Thompson said he did not care to humiliate any one, but all he wanted was for boys to keep away from his property, and leave him alone

Judge Schirick "invited" several boys, who Mr. Thompson claimed to have seen on his property, call to see him at the city hall and explain what they knew about the damage.

As a result of the conference held today it is expected that Mr Thompson will not be bothered by any more boys in the future

"Dry" Picnic Labor Day.

The picnic of the "Drys" at the Dr. Sahler Sanitarium Park on Labor Day will not be forgotten, while many will desire to hear Olin S Bishop, of Utica, the Prohibition candidate for governor, there will be a still greater desire to see and hear Mrs. Mamie W Colvin, of New York city, the first woman in this state to be nominated for lieutenant governor

The Patriot Phalanx in its last issue says of her, "Our candidate for lieutenant governor, Mamie W Colvin, needs no introduction to thousands of Prohibitionists, especially those who are so connected with the W. C T U. Mrs. Colvin is a college graduate, a winner of many oratorical and debate prizes. Mrs. Colvin should have the support of every temperance Republican and be elected to the second highest office in the state."

Many, who are not Prohibitionists, will avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing this talented speaker.

Not This Rosenzweig.

The Isidor Rosenzweig, who was arrested in New York on Saturday, on complaint of his wife charging her husband with non-support is not the Louis Rosenzweig, the well known tailor at No. 357 Broadway, who is not connected in any way with Isidor Rosenzweig.

In One's Own Sphere.

Not one of us would be happy if we assumed another's place. We are fitted only for our own little world, and it remains with us to make that tiny sphere what it ought to be. This we may do if we keep cheerful, do our best and think only wholesome thoughts. Otherwise we simply will not, no matter what we may eventually possess, be happy, and the quicker we acknowledge the truth of the assertion the better it will be for ourselves and for all concerned.

Charles Drake of Linden, N J, with his daughter, Thelma, is spending a few days with his parents, Mr and Mrs Alvah Drake

Mrs Alex Smith and family, also Mrs Amy Sheeley, motored to Ellenville to attend the fair on Wednesday of last week From there they drove to Middletown, thence to Goshen and Newburgh where her daughter, Miss Amy, remained for a week's visit with relatives. The rest of the party reached home about eleven o'clock that night, having enjoyed every bit of the journey

Private Harlowe McLean came to Esopus on Saturday for a furlough of thirty-six hours. He expects to go overseas very soon He is looking well indeed and says he ejoys the life of a soldier notwithstanding the hard hikes and other features of the training received at Camp Dix. There are about one hundred and twelve thousand men there at present. He speaks in the highest terms of the rations served and also mentioned the excellent manner in which the barracks are kept, so perfectly neat and clean His friends were greatly pleased to see him in his accustomed place at the Methodist Church service on Sunday morning and he looked every inch a soldier in his new uniform His mother, Mrs. Phoebe McLean, returned from her stay in Delhi on Friday in order to welcome him upon his arrival home and the people of this community join with her in wishing for his safe return from France.

Mrs J. J. Lyons and children reached home from Bridgeport, Conn., on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. William DuBois of Unibn Center, and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse DuBois of Kingston, motored to this village on Sunday afternoon to call upon Mrs Emma Dickerson.

Mrs Charles Mercer Hall, chairman of the "Salvage" committee in this vicinity, made a trip in her auto on Friday for the purpose of distributing posters to inform the housewives that in the future they are to "turn their trash into cash" and thus help the boys who are overseas to win the war. On September 1, a salvage store will be opened at 324 Wall street, Kingston, where all the articles donated will be disposed of. And surely every one ought to be willing to donate the waste material which accumulates so rapidly in every household and are either thrown upon the scrap-heap or burned. Articles which are "good" are also desired and a place in the front of the store will be reserved for the sale of all such received. The proceeds of all the sales will be given to the Red Cross Society and as this plan has been tried out in other places and proven to be a success the same result may be obtained in Kingston and vicinity. The articles asked for are metals of all kinds, rubbers, newspapers, magazines, bound books, tinfoil, leadfoil, glass (even broken pieces being accepted) bags, rags, old kid gloves, corks, hair combings, baking powder tins, old shoes, old rope, leather cushion tops, billiard balls, spark plugs, old clothes, and even false teeth are wanted. The articles may be left at the store of Cashmore Freer in this village and he will transfer them to Kingston, or they may be taken direct to 324 Wall street, after September 1st. Any further particulars may be secured from the chairman, Mrs C. M. Hall, whose address is Esopus, N. Y. Phone 2.

ASHOKAN.

Ashokan, Aug 26.—The Rev. Mr. Wilsey has asked that the men might bring their teams and help to fill in the yard of the church on Wednesday of this week, as there is plenty of dirt in Mr. Lasher's pond, which will make it most convenient for hauling, and we understand a subscription of twenty-five dollars has been raised to help out the good cause.

Miss Minnie Every is spending her vacation at her home here.

John Davis and family and Charles Davis motored to Kingston Sunday and spent the day with their mother and other relatives.

The young people spent a social evening at the home of Basil Cudney on Wednesday last.

Mrs. Roy Brower has moved her household furniture from Kerhonkson back to her parents' home, as her husband has been called to service.

Mr. Simpson of Warren's boarding house took charge of the Sunday school service on Sunday and ably assisted with the class service.

The wells in this vicinity are getting very low. We trust the much needed rain will soon be forthcoming.

Minnie Every spent Friday evening with Miss Venus Roosa of Tongore.

A number of people from this place attended the dance at Rushkill on Saturday night.

There was an automobile accident near Winne's store, when Miss Ada Cudney collided with a motorcycle, injuring the man's ankle quite badly and breaking the machine.

Full Explanation.

Jack received a small tool chest for his birthday. Daddy had explained to him the names and uses of each tool. Later he had a neighbor in and was extolling the virtues of his set. "Just look what I got—a hammer to hammer with; a saw to saw with; a hatchet to chop with;" (after examining very closely the monkey wrench) "Well, Bob, this is not a regular tool, it's a ——— (then, as the name dawned upon him) wrench to monkey with."

Beeswax for Cracks.

Cracks in furniture may be filled in with beeswax. Soften the wax until it is like putty, then firmly press it into the cracks and smooth over with a thin steel knife. Sandpaper over the surrounding wood and work the dust into the wax. This gives a wood finish or color, and when the furniture is varnished the cracks will disappear. Beeswax is better than putty, for putty soon dries, crumbles, and falls out.

"OVER HERE" TO BE GIVEN THURSDAY

At Forsyth Park That Afternoon at 3 O'Clock—Will Be Repeated on Smaller Scale Friday Evening at McVey's Field.

The big patriotic pageant, "Over Here," written and arranged by Miss Alice Perinchief, will be given by the playground children Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock in Forsyth Park, and will be repeated on a somewhat smaller scale Friday evening at 7 o'clock at McVey's Field. The general public is cordially invited to attend the pageant, which promises to be even bigger and better than last season.

The entire pageant will be under the direction of Director of Public Recreation A. W. Buley and his assistant, Miss Alice Perinchief. The children from Forsyth Park taking part in the pageant will be in charge of Miss Marietta Riseley and Irving Rosenthal; those of McVey's Field in charge of Miss Harietta Plemmons and Nicholas Picciano; while Miss Dora Costello will have charge of the children from the City Hall Park and Schools No. 6 and 8, and Miss Elizabeth Gunter in charge of the children from Schools No. 2, 3 and 5.

Pageant Scenes.

The pageant will be in four scenes. The first scene or prelude will show the boys leaving home for service over there, followed by a battle scene. In this prelude the work of the various war activities will be shown, such as the Red Cross.

Our Way of Helping.

The second scene will show our way of helping our boys over there. The work of the Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., K. of C., and the three Liberty Loan Drives will be depicted. The W. S. S. Drive is also set forth.

The third scene is devoted to food conservation and shows what is being done over here to save food for the boys over there.

The fourth and closing scene shows the industries of the country and the war work they are accomplishing, and the final scene shows our army and navy take their places besides the Allies in the great struggle over there, backed by the many agencies over here.

Every effort is being made to make the pageant the biggest success of its kind ever held in Kingston. An exceptionally fine musical program is being arranged by the Colonial City Band.

Those taking part in the pageant are as follows:

HISTORY OF OLD GLENERIE MILL

Saturday's Fire Destroyed Landmark Dating Back to 1831 and Brings to Mind Ulster's Failure to Preserve Waterpower.

The fire which on Saturday morning destroyed the old "stone mill" and the drying beds at Glenerie, destroyed one of the oldest landmarks of the early efforts of utilizing waterpower in Ulster county.

Henry Barclay was the first user of water power on the Esopus when he built his iron mills at Saugerties in 1825 and his friend, Col. Edwin Clark, followed him in 1830 and projected building a mill and a large dam at Washburn's Point, then called Mindersies Falls. Clark bought up the floodage rights all the way up to Glenerie for the purpose of protecting himself in the building this dam. Arriving at Glenerie, then called "The Great Falls," he found that nature had prepared for him a natural rock dam 74 feet high, with 40 feet of water back of this dam, and almost unlimited storage. Also at the bottom of the falls was a natural rock bottom site for a mill. On this site Clark built the first mill for the sole manufacture of white lead paint in 1831, utilizing only the power of the lower falls. He at the same time built himself a house on the west bank of the creek and connected the same with a suspension bridge 150 feet long across the creek that was in use up to about 1840. Col. Clark's mill was considered of so much importance that it was visited by Governor Marcy in May, 1835.

The infant industry of Clark's was killed by the panic of 1837, but was started up again in 1842 by the Battelle Brothers & Renwicks and ran a number of years and later became The Ulster White Lead Co, whose product became the standard white lead paint in this country. During the later years after the civil war there was manufactured at Glenerie mills from two to three thousand tons of dry lead (used to give body to cheaper mixed paints), and P. P. lead in oil, in a year, and having a value of from $200,000 to $300,000 per year. Later in 1888, the older members of the earlier companies having passed away, the properties at Glenerie were bought by the National Lead Co., which in combination with other manufacturers of paint became the present lead trust.

The steamboat Ansonia that is now the rebuilt steamer Ulster, was owned by the Renwicks and one of the largest parts of her freight to New York used to be Glenerie white lead paint. The mills were closed after the death of George P. Davison in December, 1898.

It is said the National Lead Co closed the Glenerie mills because they had too many mills in the eastern states and wished to build larger in the west. This appears to have been true from the fact that most of the old paint manufacturing machinery was shipped west.

The present fire destroyed the property of James H. Sands, a member of the old Sands family of Long Island, now of Guide Rock, Nebraska.

The water power that was destroyed at Glenerie was the largest water power ever destroyed by diversion for New York's water supply and the award that was made for the diversion by New York city, $145,000, was the smallest award ever given for any large water power. Awards for the same water to the mill owners at Saugerties aggregate $395,000 where there is only two-thirds of the power that there is at Glenerie

There was utilized at Glenerie only a small part of the power of the stream, the two turbines installed developing 632 horse power.

Sands proved a value of over a million dollars to his property by New York city's own experts—but that's another matter, many people who have visited Glenerie lately, wish to know who James H. Sands is and what he was doing with his plant at Glenerie

Sands is a crippled one-armed man, who had made a small fortune in the west building irrigation canals. The illness of his mother, an old lady living back of Poughkeepsie, caused Sands to give up much of his western projects and he came East to be with his parent in her declining years, and to occupy his time he decided to build a $5,000 horse power hydro electric plant at Glenerie which was for sale at that time, 1903 and 1904. After the purchase of the property work was begun preparing to install the plant in 1904. The intense cold of the winter of 1905-1906 caused the shutting down of construction work and when the spring of 1906 opened New York city had obtained the use of the stream (Esopus) and instead of owning a plant that would give a net income yearly, of the amount the award made for the property, for 12 years Sands has had to pocket a loss, and care for a useless property.

Till we think of it, we do not realize that Ulster county has sold to outsiders her birth right—her water powers. The water powers on the Rondout are in the hands of C. P. Dickenson of Mass. The powers about to be developed on the Wallkill will be owned by a $3,000,000 outside company. New York city has destroyed for all purposes that may benefit Ulster county, all the water powers on the Esopus. Hereafter, if anyone wants to use hydro electric energy here, he will have to pay an outsider for it. With the destruction of the old mill at Glenerie Sands lost property of practically no value; no one wishes to utilize a dry stream; no insurance could be carried on vacant mill property. There was but one family at Glenerie, that of C. L. Calloway, who was fire warden and it was through his efforts and a bucket brigade he organized, that the large brick mill erected at an expense of nearly $100,000 in 1867, was saved with most of the best of the dwelling houses, the church and district school House No. 18.

The origin of the fire is unknown. A little over an hour before the flame broke out from the old yellow pine raceway, now bone dry, there was no fire or anyone seen about the mills. When discovered the three story zinc mill and beds were all in flames.

With beans plentiful and likely to waste, the housewife is urged by the Food Administration for New York state to use them. One was to delight her family with beans is to serve them as "frijoles" according to the Mexican style Through the country in Mexico, a kettle of frijoles is always left on the back of the stove so that any chance traveller may satisfy his hunger. They are a delicacy that we may well share with the Mexicans.

Mexican Frijoles.

One pint red kidney beans. Wash, cook overnight in cold water. In the morning drain, cover with cold water let come to a boil, add ¼ teaspoon soda and boil five minutes. Drain, put ¼ pound of fat bacon in a frying pan, add two small onions and fry until brown. Put this with the beans, add salt to taste; also three Mexican red peppers. (The peppers are like small peppers found in mixed spices.) Cover, the beans with hot water and simmer all day over low heat or cook in a fireless cooker. About 4 o'clock add 1 can tomato soup and serve for the evening meal, or re-heat for the following noon meal.

Spanish Cream.

Soak two tablespoons of gelatin in one quart of milk for 10 minutes. Put on fire over hot water and stir until it is dissolved. Add the yolks of 3 eggs, well beaten, 3 tablespoons of corn syrup and 1 tablespoon sugar. Cook until the mixture thickens somewhat. Remove from the fire, add the whites of three eggs well beaten, 3 tablespoons of corn syrup and 1 table spoon sugar. Cook until the mixture thickens somewhat. Remove from the fire, add the whites of three eggs well beaten with 2 tablespoons of sugar, stirring briskly until thoroughly mixed. Flavor with 1 teaspoon of vanilla, add ¼ teaspoon of vanilla; add ¼ teaspoon of salt and turn into a mold. Serve with or without sauce.

The new War Time Conservation Circular (No. 10) "Save Sugar and Save Fruit" may be obtained by writing either the Ithaca or the Albany office of the State Food Commission. Just ask for Circular No. 10.

A Pleasant Change.

It was a little cooler Monday evening, and during the night the mercury took quite a drop, while a refreshing breeze helped to cool the atmosphere, making the night fairly comfortable for sleeping. It was a welcome change for many Kingston folks, who on account of the hot nights we have been having, have slept but little lately.

SAVE PEACH PITS.

Make The Best Charcoal For Gas Masks.

Peaches come high this year, but the stones cost you nothing and Uncle Sam wants them. Throughout the country barrels in which to deposit your peach stones have begun to appear and every peach eater is asked to save the pits and deposit them where the government can use them in its vital industry of saving soldiers lives.

Peach stones are reduced to a charcoal powder which filters the poison from poison gases such as those loosed by the Hun. It is for this purpose that peach stones deposited in the government's barrels will be used. Thus peach eating becomes a patriotic industry for the sake of the by-product—the stone.

Fog Magnifies.

If you see a person in a fog he seems to be much bigger than usual. The same thing happens when you see men or cattle on the top of a hill against the horizon in twilight. In both cases you judge them to be farther away than they really are, and consequently they appear uncommonly large.

Plants Travel by Air.

In Porto Rico, where the atmosphere is moist and balmy, air plants often lodge in the most unusual places and produce some weird effects while growing. Frequently they establish themselves on telephone and telegraph wires. The insulation rots in places and the plants take root, grow and thrive.

LAWS OF NEW YORK.—By Authority. CHAP. 309

AN ACT to amend the code of civil procedure in relation to service by publication of a summons or a citation.

Became a law April 23, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section four hundred and forty of the code of civil procedure as amended by chapter ninety-eight of the laws of nineteen hundred and seventeen is further amended to read as follows:

§ 440. By whom order may be made; contents of order. The order may be made by the court or by a judge thereof or the county judge of the county where the action is triable. It must direct that service of the summons, upon the defendant named or described in the order, be made by publication thereof in two newspapers, designated in the order as most likely to give notice to the defendant, for a specified time, which the judge deems reasonable, not less than once a week for six successive weeks. It must also contain, either a direction that, on or before the day of the first publication, the plaintiff deposit in a post-office, branch post-office or post-office station, one or more sets of copies of the summons, complaint and order, each contained in a securely closed post-paid wrapper, directed to the defendant, at a place specified in the order, or a statement that the court or judge, being satisfied, by the affidavits upon which the order was granted, that the plaintiff cannot, with reasonable diligence, ascertain a place or places, where the defendant would probably receive matter transmitted through the post-office, dispenses with the deposit of any papers therein. When it appears by the affidavits upon which the order was granted that the defendant is within a country with which the United States of America is at war, or in a place with which by reason of the existence of a state of war the United States of America does not maintain postal communication the order may dispense with the mailing of any papers to such defendant, and in lieu thereof shall direct that such papers be mailed to such officer as may have been appointed by the president of the United States of America to take possession of the property of alien enemies, at Washington, District of Columbia, on behalf of such defendant.

§ 2. Section twenty-five hundred and twenty-eight of the code of civil procedure as amended by chapter four hundred and forty-three of the laws of nineteen hundred and fourteen is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 2528. Order, when and how made; contents thereof. When an order, directing the service of a citation personally without the state, or by publication, is made, if the order authorizes service by publication, it must direct that the citation be served upon the persons named or described in the order, by publication of the citation in two newspapers, therein designated, unless from the petition or affidavit filed it appears that the estate or fund amounts to less than five thousand dollars, in which case only one newspaper shall be designated, for such specified time as the surrogate deems reasonable, not less than once in each of four successive weeks, and by mailing a copy of such citation as provided in section twenty-five hundred and twenty-nine of this chapter; except that the order may dispense with such mailing to persons whose names or addresses are alleged in the petition or affidavit to be unknown, or to persons who are alleged in the petition or affidavit to be within a country with which the United States of America is at war, or to be in a place with which by reason of the existence of a state of war the United States of America does not maintain postal communication. The court shall direct that the citation be mailed on behalf of such persons to such officer as may have been appointed by the president of the United States of America to take possession of the property of alien enemies, at Washington, District of Columbia.

If the order authorizes personal service without the state of New York, it must direct that service be made upon the parties named therein in the manner prescribed in section twenty-five hundred and twenty-nine of this chapter.

The order may authorize both modes of service at the option of the petitioner, or may direct that service be made by either mode without embodying the other. The granting of an order for service by publication, or personally without the state, shall not prevent the personal service of such citation within the state.

§ 3. This act shall take effect immediately.

LAWS OF NEW YORK.—By Authority. CHAP. [illegible]

AN ACT to amend the code of civil procedure, in relation to parties in actions for partition involving the estate of a decedent.

Became a law April 23, 1918, with the approval of the Governor. Passed, three-fifths being present.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section fifteen hundred and thirty-eight of the code of civil procedure is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 1538. Who must be parties. Every person having an undivided share, in possession or otherwise, in the property, as tenant in fee, for life, by the curtesy, or for years, every person entitled to the reversion, remainder or inheritance of an undivided share, after the determination of a particular estate therein; every person who, by any contingency contained in a devise or grant or otherwise, is or may become entitled to a beneficial interest in an undivided share thereof, provided that where a future estate or interest is limited in any contingency to the persons who shall compose a certain class upon the happening of a future event, it shall be sufficient to make parties to the action the persons who would have been entitled to such estate or interest if such event had happened immediately before the commencement of the action; every person having an inchoate right of dower in an undivided share in the property; and every person having a right of dower in the property, or any part thereof, which has not been admeasured, must be made a party to an action for a partition But no person, other than a joint tenant, or a tenant in common of the property, shall be a plaintiff in the action Whenever an action for the partition of real property shall be brought before the expiration of eighteen months from the time when letters of administration or letters testamentary, as the case may be, shall have been issued upon the estate of the decedent from whom the plaintiff's title is derived, the executors or administrators, as the case may be if any, of the estate of said decedent, shall be made parties defendant In case no executor or administrator of such decedent shall have been appointed at the time said action is begun, that fact shall be alleged in the complaint The executors or administrators, if any, as the case may be, of a deceased person, who, if living, should be a party to such action, shall be made parties defendant therein, and in case no executor or administrator of such deceased person shall have been appointed, that fact shall be alleged in the complaint Where the interlocutory judgment directs a sale of the premises sought to be partitioned, or of some part thereof, the judgment may in the discretion of the court, direct that the premises so sold pursuant to such interlocutory judgment shall be free from the lien of every debt of such decedent or decedents, except debts which were a lien upon the premises before the death of such decedent or decedents. When the action is brought before eighteen months have elapsed from the granting of such letters of administration or letters testamentary, as the case may be, upon the estate of a decedent from whom the plaintiff derived his title, and the interlocutory judgment directs, as above provided, that the premises shall be sold, free from the lien of debts, the final judgment shall direct that the proceeds of the sale remaining after the payment of the costs, referee's fees, expenses of sale, taxes, assessments, water rates, and liens established before the death of the decedent, including any sum allowed to a widow in satisfaction of her right of dower, therein directed to be paid, be forthwith paid into court by the referee making such sale by depositing the same with the county treasurer of the county, in which the trial of the action is placed, to the credit of the parties entitled thereto, to await the further order in the premises Where the action is brought before eighteen months have elapsed from the granting of letters of administration or letters testamentary, as the case may be, upon the estate of a deceased person, who, if living, should be a party to the action, and the interlocutory judgment directs, as above provided, that the premises shall be sold, free from the lien of debts, the final judgment shall direct that the share of the proceeds of such sale, which would have been his, if living be paid into court by such referee, by depositing the same with such county treasurer, to await the further order in the premises. Upon the certificate of the surrogate of the county of which the decedent was, at the time of his death, a resident, showing that eighteen months have elapsed since the issuing of letters testamentary or letters of administration as the case may be, upon the estate of said decedent, and that no proceedings for the mortgage, lease or sale of the real property of said decedent for the payment of his debts or funeral expenses, or both, is pending, and upon the certificate of the county clerk of the county where the real property sold under the interlocutory judgment is located, showing that no notice of pendency of action in respect to such real property has been filed in his office, the court, wherein the final judgment was made shall, upon the application of any party to said action, make an order directing the county treasurer to pay to said party from said deposit, the amount to which he is entitled under the said final judgment, with the accumulation thereon, if any, less the fees of said county treasurer. Any party to such action may, at any time after final judgment, upon notice to the executors or administrators of the decedent from whom the party applying derived his share or interest, apply to the court in which said action is pending for leave to withdraw the deposit or the share of the deposit, adjudged in the final judgment to belong to him; and, upon said application, the court may, in its discretion, make an order directing the county treasurer to pay over to said party the deposit, or the share of the deposit, adjudged in the final judgment to belong to him, but said order shall not be made until said party so applying shall have furnished a bond to the people of the state of New York in the penalty of twice the amount of the deposit sought to be withdrawn, with two or more good and sufficient sureties, approved by the judge or justice of the court making such order, and filed with such approval, in the office of the clerk of the county in which such action is pending, to the effect that the said party so withdrawing said deposit will pay any and all claims, not exceeding the amount of said deposit, when thereunto required by order of the court, or by order of the surrogate or of the surrogate's court in a proceeding to mortgage, lease or sell the real property of such decedent. Where a final accounting has been had in the estate of said decedent in a surrogate's court, and certified copies of the account and decree of final settlement, showing that all of the debts of the decedent have been paid in full, is filed with the court having jurisdiction of the fund, the court may dispense with the giving of a bond and direct the immediate payment of the fund to the parties entitled thereto, subject to the provisions of article second, title three, chapter fifteen of the code of civil procedure. But where final judgment shall be rendered in any action for partition after eighteen months have elapsed from the granting of letters of administration or letters testamentary, as the case may be, upon the estate of the decedent from whom the plaintiff derived title, and the premises shall have been sold, free from the lien of debts, as above provided, then, upon producing to the court the certificate of the surrogate of the county in which the decedent was at the time of his death a resident, showing that eighteen months have elapsed since the issuing of letters of administration or letters testamentary, as the case may be, upon the estate of said decedent and that no proceeding for the mortgage, lease or sale of the real property of the decedent for the payment of his debts or funeral expenses, or both, is pending, and upon the certificate of the clerk of the county where the real property sold under the interlocutory judgment is located showing that no notice of pendency of action in respect to such real property has been filed in his office, the court rendering the final judgment shall direct the payment of the different shares to the several parties entitled thereto, except that the share of a deceased person, who, if living, should be a party to the action shall be paid into court as above provided, unless eighteen months have also elapsed since the granting of letters of administration or letters testamentary, as the case may be, upon the estate of said last mentioned deceased person, and like certificates of the surrogate and county clerk are produced to the court

§ 2. This act shall take effect September first, nineteen hundred and eighteen.

UNDERNEATH THE CITY HALL DOME

"I am sorry I was just over the draft age, said the man who had past thirty-one, but I wonder now what he is saying about his chance of fighting the Hun, since the draft age has been extended from 18 to 45, and registration day will come soon?" typed the City Hall Poet thoughtfully this morning

Monday evening when the city ambulance was called out on an accident case and shot up Broadway with the siren blowing it was observed that no automobilist knew enough or was courteous enough to give the ambulance a clear road, but persisted in getting in the way causing the driver of the ambulance to sheer from one side of the street to the other in order to get by.

In making an ambulance call a delay even a few minutes means life or death many times, and the road hogs who persist in getting in the way of the ambulance have about as much sympathy as the Hun A few arrests and the imposing of the limit fine would do more than anything else to teach road hogs manners and the ordinary courtesy of life Drivers of automobiles as well as wagons and other vehicles should be made to realize that an ambulance out on a hurry call has the right of way at all times.

Officer Soper, the motorcyle cop, has lost a pair of handcuffs somewhere on the city streets The finder should return them to police headquarters

Now that the draft age will be extended from 18 to 45 years, the local board of health are receiving many inquiries from residents and out of town residents for their birth certificates In this connection it should be borne in mind that the city birth records on file at the city hall are for 37 years only There are no birth records, and none were kept by the city authorities prior to 1881

Former residents and residents born in Kingston who are over 37 years of age consequently will be unable to obtain a birth record from the city for no records are in existence The best plan would be to obtain the record from the church where they were baptized

As Saturday is the last day when school taxes can be paid without additional fees the taxpayer had better get busy before then

A SECOND STATEMENT TO THE CITIZENS

In yesterday's talk we endeavored to give some information bearing on the street lighting contract and its relation to our application for Gas Rate increase. This was prompted by the statements of some of our best known citizens that the public in general knew very little about this contract. To any one interested further we will cheerfully extend the privilege of reading the entire contract if they will but call at our office and make the request. We wish just to emphasize our interpretation of this contract when the city, during normal business and financial times, requested concessions. The first was that in 1914, "in spite of the provision that all additions above 240 arc lamps were to be paid for at regular prices, we voluntarily reduced the price of each arc lamp $5.00 per year, making a net saving to the city of over $2,000.00 per year." Again in 1916, "at the request of the Board of Public Works, and without recourse to the terms of our contract, we willingly cut out of service 45 arc lamps. This reduction in lamps not only made a serious reduction in income, but took out of service practically 1 10th of the equipment" used to operate the street lighting system. This was in normal financial times.

Now in these abnormal and unthought of times we are asking the city to interpret this contract in a broad and fair minded manner, not because we did it but in the interest of fairness and we believe justice to a Utility which has always acted with the interests of the city at heart. A prosperous and progressive Utility means a prosperous and progressive Kingston. A starved Utility means a deadened and retrogressive Kingston.

At the time of our concession on the contract the city had no vital interests at stake. Had we refused these concessions no ill effects would have been produced. This Company, however, will be seriously affected by the final refusal of the City to allow us to file an increased rate for Gas, subject to the approval of the Public Service Commission. The Commission, through the means of reports filed regularly with it, can and will very quickly determine on the merits of our case and their trained accountants can intelligently verify our operating costs for this year. Are we unreasonable in asking to have the Commission verify our statements? We want somebody to do it. We asked the City to do it nearly two months ago, offering to throw open our books. They have not made any effort to carry out this request of ours with the result that the case has been decided against us with no opportunity given for substantiation of our statements. Is this fair? Is it American spirit: the spirit of fair play that has made this country big?

The present rates for gas were based on conditions existing in 1914. To assume their fairness at that time manifestly proves their inadequacy at this time. We hoped by increasing our business and endeavoring to effect economies in operation during the period between then and now, to bring our earnings up to the full allowable amount. But what has been the actual condition? Any advantage gained by the results of our own efforts were quickly taken away in the shape of taxes. The following table shows the City Tax increases since 1914:

	Amount	Increase over Previous Year	Per Cent of Gross Income
1914	$17,172.00
1915	17,724.00	$ 552.00	8.4 %
1916	19,606.00	1,982.00	8.76%
1917	25,732.00	6,126.00	10.55%
1918	29,000.00 (Est.)	4,268.00

Have you ever thought of the amount of money we return to the City yearly? How many business houses in Kingston turn back 10% of their Gross Receipts in taxes? During this same period our Net Corporate Income as reported to the Public Service Commission has decreased $1,960.00. If we had been allowed to retain as surplus some of the amounts represented by increased taxes we might have drawn on that surplus to tide us over our present condition. But when any possible attempt to accumulate a surplus is nullified and in our case negatived, then our only recourse is in increased income through the medium of increased rates to meet our constantly increasing operating expenses.

That our old rate for gas was fair is proven by comparison with adjoining cities. We have for years past sold gas in Kingston at a price 5 cents per thousand less than our neighbors down the river and since March these same cities have been charging 30 cents per thousand more than the Kingston rate. Does not this indicate that we have always given the City and citizens every benefit in spite of higher investment costs per customer, due to the scattered territory represented by Kingston limits as well as smaller volume of business on this increased investment?

The City Authorities in these cities believed that the interests of the city and citizens demanded relief for the Utility and without objection passed the case to the Commission as the competent body to judge its merits.

Can Kingston do any less?

REVENUE BILL TO HIT PROFITS HARD

Now in Hands of McAdoo For Final Draft—Kitchin's Plan to Be Adopted and Consumption Taxes Dropped.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 27.—As the new revenue bill framed by the house ways and means committee stands today it would provide $8,100,000,000 for the next fiscal year without the imposition of consumption taxes upon tea, coffee and sugar, a member of the committee stated today.

On last Wednesday, before the schedule of increased excess profits taxation favored by Chairman Kitchin, of the committee, and opposed by Secretary McAdoo, was incorporated in it, would have provided $7,440,000,000. The committee is reported to have decided to drop the consumption taxes and to insist upon a material boost in excess profits taxation instead.

The bill in its present form is now in the possession of Secretary McAdoo, who, according to Chairman Kitchin, has agreed that the final draft of it shall not be hurried in order that it may prove as satisfactory as possible to the senate and house when it is reported. Secretary McAdoo is also said to be now resigned to the unlikelihood of the measure being passed by the start of next Liberty Loan Drive on September 28 as he had desired.

Chairman Kitchin is hopeful that his committee will be able to report the bill before the week end, but it is not expected to make its appearance in the house before next week.

Members of the committee are hopeful that the difference existing between the committee and Secretary McAdoo, as to the income and excess tax factors of the bill, will be smoothed out before it is reported

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, Aug. 27.—Little interest was shown in either the leading railroad or industrial stocks, at the opening of the stock market today. Various groups of stocks held in close control, reflected pool or inside information. Washington news today that a compromise had been reached regarding the date of prohibition was responded to with an advance of ¾ by Distillers Securities to 59¾ and a gain of ⅜ was made in Industrial Alcohol which sold at 129¼. American Steel Foundries moved up 1⅜ to 77⅞. Central Leather made a gain of ¼ to 71⅜, while American Hide and Leather yielded ¼ to 21. Steel Common ranged from 114⅛ to 114¼ against 114¼ at the close yesterday. Union Pacific was off ⅛ to 121½ and Reading opened up ½ at 92. Sinclair Oil was down ½ to 31¾. Bethlehem Steel B after moving up ⅜ to 84¾, yielded to 84⅛.

After the early trading a firmer tone developed but the market generally was chiefly one of speculation, with the wildest movement in those stocks. American Steel Foundries moved up 1⅞ to 78 and Burns Brothers showed a gain of 1⅛ at 147. The buying of Distillers continued, carying its price up to 60⅜. American Hide and Leather preferred was exceptionally weak, dropping 2⅜ to 91⅝, while the common yielded ⅞ to 20⅝. Steel common continued firm and after declining to 113⅞, it moved up to 114⅝

The market closed steady; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds steady.

Michigan Primary on Today.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 27.—Michigan voters turned out in force today for the nominations of candidates for all state and city offices, a number of congressmen and one United States senator for the place now held by William Alden Smith. There are four candidates for the senatorial toga and chief interest in the state wide primary centers in that contest. Henry Ford, endorsed by President Wilson; Truman H. Newberry, U. S. N., Former Governor Chase E. Sobern, and Mr. Smith are engaged in the hardest senatorial race in the history of the state, with the followers of each candidate confident of victory. The Detroit mayoralty race and the election of a nine-man council under the new city charter came in for most of the attention locally.

GUNNING FOR SPIES AT HASTINGS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Hastings on the Hudson, Aug. 27—"Shoot on sight" is the order issued to the Home Guard by Captain Frank F. Crossman, after the discovery of secret signalling operations about here.

The hills were scoured today for German sympathizers suspected of signalling to agents along the Atlantic coast.

Watchers last night saw signals flashed from a ship in code and answered from Hook Mountain, nearby.

The King's Daughters of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church will hold a salad supper in the Sunday school room on Wednesday evening from 5 to 8 o'clock.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Mary A., widow of John Plant, died Monday at Highland. The interment will be at Rosendale Wednesday at 12 o'clock noon.

J. Benjamin Deshler died in the Kingston City Hospital Saturday evening, in his 77th year. The funeral was held this afternoon from the home of his son in Glasco. He is also survived by two daughters, members of the Hippodrome chorus in New York city. For many years Mr. Deshler was watchman for the Washburn Brothers Company on their brickyards.

The funeral of Harriet W. Griffin, wife of Joseph W. Duryea, who died on August 21, at the family home in New Paltz, was held Saturday afternoon at the Friends' Church in Plattekill. Mrs. Duryea had always made her home in Plattekill until a few years ago, when the family moved to New Paltz. BRITISH TAKE HENINEL.

Part of Hindenburg Line Now In British Hands.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, Aug. 27—(4:47 p. m.)—With the capture of Heninel, south of Wancourt, a considerable sector of the Hindenburg line has bene taken by the British, according to a Reuter dispatch from the front today.

The dispatches also announce that the Germans have thrown seventy divisions into the battle on the western front within the past twenty days in an effort to stem the Allied drive.

New Clue In Janny Case.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Rahway, N. J., Aug. 27.—Search for the slayers of Arthur L. Kupser and Edith Janny was renewed today. An unkempt stranger, who staggered into a farmyard nearby soon after the crimes were committed last Thursday morning, and cried, "For God's sake give me a drink of water!" is the clew. Authorities, who had given up the case have been given his description. Kupser and Janny, whose bodies were found two miles apart, along the highway leading from this town, were buried Sunday.

National Prayer Days.

The first time the people of the United States were called upon to observe a day of national prayer was May 9, 1798, by proclamation of President John Adams. A controversy had arisen between this country and France and all Americans were called upon to pray for a continuation of peace. In 1815, when the United States was about to make war on Algiers, President Madison proclaimed a day of prayer. During the Civil war three presidential proclamations were issued appointing days of prayer for peace. In 1865 the authorities called upon the people to pray for Lincoln, and in 1881 President Arthur proclaimed a day of prayer to mark the burial of President Garfield. In the autumn of 1914 President Wilson issued his proclamation for prayers on "Peace Sundays."

Shoveling Out Gas.

Weighing considerably more than the atmosphere, the poisonous gases employed in modern warfare always seek lower levels. Thus the gas clouds penetrate trenches and deep dugouts, and in most cases it is a matter of many hours before they become sufficiently diluted with the atmosphere to permit of safe breathing. So the matter resolves itself into a problem of driving the poisonous fumes out of the trenches and underground shelters, or at least thinning them out until the air is again made safe.

For this reason American soldiers now in France literally "shovel" poisonous fumes out of their trenches. Attached to a shovel is a sort of canvas scoop or "dipper" which permits the men to heave the heavy gases over the parapets and beat the fumes into dissipate them in the surrounding air.—Scientific American.

Not Dangerous.

"While you were out west did you meet with any typical bad men?"

"I should say so! I spent a week in a camp full of the toughest customers you ever saw—real cowboys who spent most of their time firing pistols and carrering on their broncbos at breakneck speed."

"Didn't you tremble for your life?"

"I was a trifle uneasy at first, but when I saw how a motion picture director bullied those fellows I plucked up considerable courage."

STRIKES NOT BARRED IN MAN POWER BILL

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 27.—The senate went on record overwhelmingly in favor of modification of the Reed-Thomas anti-strike amendment to the administration man power bill this afternoon, when it adopted the Cummins amendment to that provision.

The Cummins amendment was adopted unanimously. It provides that strikers who immediately ceasing work should state their grievances to the war labor board for adjustment, agree to abide by its decision, and immediately return to work, pending the board's award shall not have their deferred status cancelled and be inducted into the military service, as provided in the anti-strike provision of the bill

Seventy-three senators were present and all voted in the affirmative.

The Reed-Thomas amendment would absolutely prevent strikes. The Cummins amendment recognizes the right of workers to strike but provides that after having demonstrated their grievance they must not continue to hold up production of war essentials.

The senate rejected by a vote of 54 to 9 the amendment by Senator Fall of New Mexico which would have extended the draft ages from 18 to 60 and would have classified all registrants for military or industrial service. The amendment would have made members of congress liable to draft. Those voting for it were: Senators Calder, Fall, France, McCumber, New, Townsend, Watson, Framinghouesen and Sherman.

Nation's Capital Finds Little Ones Are Under Fed.

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Washington, Aug 27—That babies and small children in the national capital are not getting enough milk to drink is revealed in a report published today by the children's bureau of the department of labor. The report, based upon data collected by the public health nurses of the city, shows that of all the families visited, more than half of the children between two and seven years received no fresh milk at all, and that fully one-third of the babies under two are not receiving the three cups daily that are considered necessary for proper growth and development. Of the children who are getting no milk, a large proportion are receiving such injurious substitutes as tea and coffee, the report shows.

SELECTION OF ORCHARD SITE

Great Importance Is Attached to Favorable Location—Peaches Favor Light Soils.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Too much emphasis cannot be placed upon a suitable location and site of the peach orchard, because a faulty choice of either may be fatal to future financial success. Some mistakes in planning an orchard may be overcome as the trees develop, but a poor location or site cannot be changed.

It is the current opinion that the peach should be planted on sandy or some of the lighter types of soil. Excellent results may follow the planting of orchards on such soils, but peaches do well also on a wide range of soil types, including even some of the moderately heavy clay loams and clays. But whatever the type, a soil must be thoroughly well drained. Peaches will not succeed on poorly drained soils. The heavy clay types which are so hard and impervious that water does not percolate through them readily are to be avoided. Moreover, the soil should be moderately fertile. One very rich in nitrogen is not desirable as a general rule, since it may induce an excessive growth of foliage.

Where alkali soils occur, they should be avoided. While the peach tree can be grown where there is a limited amount of the alkali salts, they cause disaster if present in large quantities. It is safer, therefore, to avoid them as far as possible.

Generally a site that is elevated considerably above the surrounding areas is to be preferred for a peach orchard. Cold air settles to the lower levels. For this reason it is often colder at the lower elevations than it is at higher points. The occurrence of frost in low places when there is none on elevated areas is thus explained. During the past few years the importance of selecting relatively high sites for peach orchards in order to avoid the effects of unfavorable temperatures has been emphatically demonstrated in many different parts of the country.

When an orchard has a site adjacent to a body of water of sufficient size and depth to have an appreciable influence on the local climate, the importance of a relatively high elevation largely disappears. Because water warms up in the spring more slowly than the atmosphere, it acts in effect as a refrigerator, making the temperature in its immediate vicinity colder than at points somewhat distant from it. Vegetation within the zone of this influence advances more slowly in the spring than it does outside of that zone. The tendency is for the blossoming of peach trees within the zone to be delayed until after the season of spring frosts is past.

Typical Peach Orchard Site in Mountainous District—Ridges Which Are Well-Drained Are Usually Admirably Adapted for Peaches.

In the fall, frosts are delayed. The water, having absorbed much heat during the summer, cools off in the fall more slowly than the atmosphere and tends to keep the temperature within its zone of influence warmer than it would otherwise be.

The slope factor is largely one of degree. Peach trees on a site having a very steep southern slope will usually blossom and the fruit will ripen somewhat earlier than on a corresponding northern slope, but where the differences in slope are only moderate their relative influence on the time of blossoming and ripening is not very marked.

Aside from economic factors, temperature probably is the most decisive limiting factor in the distribution of commercial peach growing. Usually the fruit buds are the first to suffer injury. No absolute minimum temperature which the peach is able to withstand without injury can be given. The condition of the buds with regard to their strength, vitality, and perfect dormancy, the duration of the critical temperature, the climatic conditions following the cold period, perhaps the amount of moisture in the air during the period, and other factors all have an influence.

FOR FIT ARMY.

Development Battalions to Put Men in Right Places.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 27—Establishment of "development battalions" to relieve divisions of all unfit men and to train such of them as can be made fit for combat and non-combat forces on the United States and overseas, is making excellent progress, according to war department announcements today.

"That the army may be fit," says the announcement, "it is important that men for overseas be suitable for any class of combat service, and the physical examinations required are very rigid and have heretofore precluded the use of large numbers of men of exceptional trade skill or high professional ability and knowledge and one of the very important functions of the development battalion is to provide means for utilizing this material in capacities where minor defects do not interfere with their effective use. In this way it is possible to replace men who are perfectly fitted for overseas duty by men who are of what is called 'limited service' classification."

FLIGHT INSTRUCTION.

New System Adopted Here Gives Candidates More Advantage.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 27—Experienced flyers are being returned from abroad to act as special instructors in the more advanced courses of aviation training, the war department announced today

"Recent practice in elemental training now gives the candidates more time in the air with his instructor than heretofore," states the announcement. "The new plan is known as the Gosport system, or 'All Thru,' as it is popularly known here, and insures closer contact between the cadet and the instructor."

"When the cadets arrive at a flying field from a ground school, where they have learned much of the theory of flying, several are assigned to an instructor who stays with them until they have qualified in elemental flying. They are then sent to special schools for final work and training in their particular line.

"The old practice of turning a cadet loose for his first solo flight in a sink is being discontinued," the war department states.

POLICE AID ON REGISTRATION DAY

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, Aug. 27.—Local police authorities will cooperate with the government in the enforcement of order on registration under the man power act, the date for which has not yet been set, Provost Marshal General Crowder announced today. Regulations prescribed by the president have been sent to draft officials of all the states, and provide that all police officers, regardless of grade or class shall hold themselves in readiness to render what aid they can in preserving order at the places of registration and in assisting in bringing about a complete registration.

They are instructed to examine all registration lists and report to the local boards the names of any persons known by them to have failed to register.

NEED OFFICE HELP.

Former Kingstonian In Washington Appeals to Moran.

Edgar N. Palen, formerly of this city, who now holds an executive position with the United States Fuel Administration at the national capital, in a letter to Principal John J. Moran of Moran Business School, writes as follows under date of August 23:

"My Dear Mr. Moran:

"There is a very great shortage of clerical and stenographic help in Washington. I need a good stenographer; three are needed in this particular division, and about thirty or forty are needed in this administration alone. Do you know of any applicants? Typists who can write thirty words or more a minute are paid seventy to eighty dollars a month; stenographers who can write eighty-five words per minute and transcribe same with accuracy are paid one hundred per month. Those who are able to pass a secretarial test receive one hundred and ten to one hundred and twenty-five per month. It is not necessary to pass civil service but it is necesary for them to pass a test here in this building. The government will not pay transportation to Washington.

"Will you kindly write me if you know of any available help of this nature. I will write them individually more detailed in formation if you will furnish me the names, and our personnel section will try to arrange for rooming accommodations for any we engage."

Mr. Moran would be glad to send to Mr. Palen the names of local stenographers and typists who are desirous of securing further information about these positions. This is a special appeal to those who are patriotically inclined and who are desirous of rendering real service to the government in its hour of need.

TWO MEN INJURED

Monday Night in Collision Between Motorcycle and Automobile.

Joseph Heckel, a carpenter, of 20 Abbey street, and William Van Etten, a laborer, of 2 Teller street, were injured about 7:30 o'clock Monday evening in a collision on Albany avenue between a motorcycle they were riding on and an automobile. They were taken to Kingston City Hospital in the city ambulance and were attended by Dr. E. E. Norwood and Dr. Daniel Connelly. Heckel suffered a fracture of the left arm and some cuts about the face. Van Etten suffered a fracture of the left leg. Neither of the men seemed to be able to give a very clear account of the accident.

The automobile with which the motorcycle collided was driven by Morris Basch of St. Mary's street, and with him were Malcolm Clair and R. Lipkin. They were proceeding out the Saugerties road and the motorcycle was on the way in to Kingston. The collision occurred just outside the city limits.

It is claimed that there were no lights lit on the motorcycle, which was the reason for the collision.
